Let's Start!

We all need sleep!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How well do you sleep?
- What have you done when you've had trouble sleeping?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about staying healthy.
- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can offer advice and solutions.

Let's Explore!

How often do you get a good night's sleep?

* "A good night's sleep" is one that leaves you feeling alert and refreshed in the morning.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Have you had problems sleeping? Were you tired at work today? Did you have trouble concentrating? If you haven't had a good night's sleep for a few days running, you had better do something about it. We all need sleep.

One theory says sleep has a restorative function. Most adults ought to get 8 hours of it every night. Children ought to get more. It's essential for their physical and mental development. Sleep, like food, is necessary to keep the body and mind functioning well. Have you had insomnia? Did you lie awake for hours? Did you still feel tired in the morning? Maybe you haven't gotten ill yet, but you could. You'd better call the doctor and make an appointment. You should also keep a sleep diary to help him or her evaluate you. You ought to ask about an herbal or over-the-counter sleeping aid. Insomnia is a disorder and can be treated. Deep, uninterrupted sleep relieves tiredness and irritability. You wake refreshed and ready for the day.

Learning Points

The Present Perfect Tense vs. The Simple Past Tense

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a finished action or event that is connected to the present in some way.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about a finished action or event not connected to the present.

When you talk about an action or an event that occurred in the past, but you do not specify when it occurred (maybe it's not relevant to say when it happened), you use the Present Perfect.

When you want to say when an action or an event occurred at a specific time in the past, you use the Simple Past.

Here are some time expressions for Present Perfect which refers to indefinite time, and some for Simple Past which refers to definite time.

Present Perfect – indefinite

I have done it ...	for a long time. lately. before. recently.
---------------------------	---

Simple Past – definite

I did it ...	yesterday. last night. two days ago. at 8 o'clock.
---------------------	---

Examples:

- Maybe you haven't gotten ill yet, but you could.
- Did you lie awake for hours?
