- What is your favorite sweet treat and why?

Can Do Statements

- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can offer advice and solutions and talk about what is necessary.

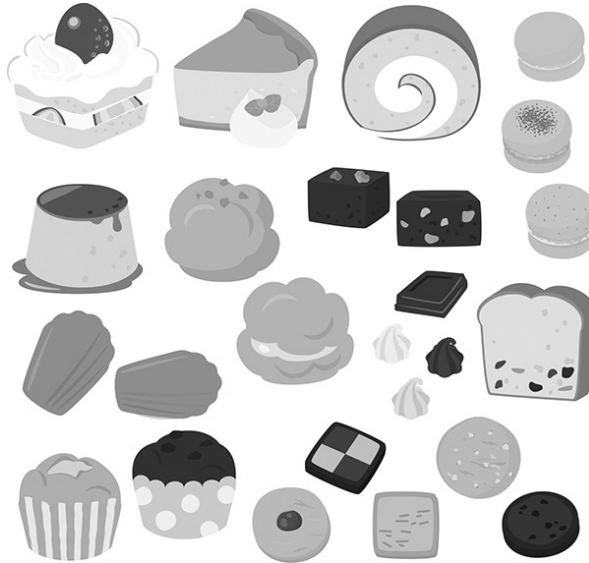

Let's Explore!

It's time to cut down on sweet treats!

* To "cut down on" is a phrasal verb meaning to reduce the number or amount of something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Food, glorious food! It seems to be everywhere! However, before you opt for those tempting French pastries, you might want to stop and think. What have you eaten today? Haven't had any vegetables or fruit? Most of us would prefer the pastry, but it's not always the best choice.

I've put on a little weight lately. My doctor said I'd better cut back on the sweets. He stressed that I'm going to have to choose my foods more carefully. I decided to take his advice. So, the cheesecake at lunch has to go.

I've got to start packing a lunch. No more trips to the deli. I had better get a nice insulated bag to carry it in. I'm going to have to make a list before I do the groceries too. No more impulse buying.

I've stuck pictures of tantalizing low fat foods on my fridge. I downloaded a 'healthy foods' app online. I haven't got anything to lose but those few extra pounds.

Offering Health Advice and Solutions

You can offer advice and solutions to people on how to improve their health or longevity.

Remember to offer advice politely and to use the modals could, should or might to propose a solution.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to offer advice and solutions:

- You should ...
- You need to ...
- You ought to ... (strong request)
- You had better ... (strong request)

When you say what is necessary to follow advice, you use have got to, or going to have to. Have got to focuses on now and in the future. Going to have to, focuses on the future alone.
