

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Mmm ... crunchy cranberry crackers!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe personal and regional eating habits and cooking in a range of communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What are your favorite snack foods?
- Are there any foods that sometimes you feel you just have to eat?

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use the sound cr.
- I can talk about what is necessary.
- I can describe the quality of an object or a person.

Let's Explore!

Do you have any cravings? How can you control them?

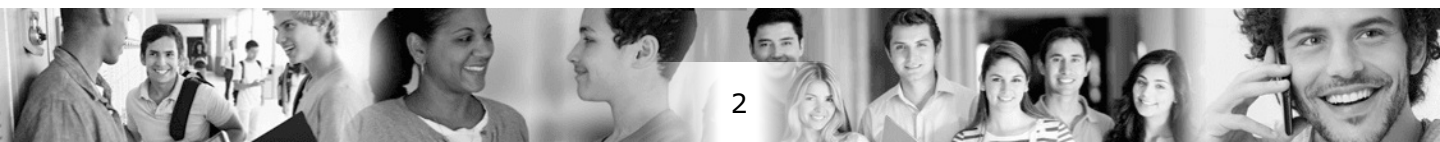

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Do you have any cravings? Sometimes I just have to have a cranberry crepe from my favorite breakfast cafe. Or a bag of crunchy potato chips when I'm watching a movie. What about you? If you want to stay healthy, you've got to control your cravings. Here are some tips for getting those pesky habits under control:

1. Create a distraction. Cravings usually last for a short time so you've got to focus your attention on something else. Call someone, listen to music or exercise to take your mind off the craving.
2. Avoid triggers. Try to change what you eat in general. The first few days are the hardest to deal with, but it gets easier.
3. Since stress is one of the biggest triggers for cravings, find another way to relax. Meditate, do yoga, or exercise. You have to find an outlet for your stress.

So the next time you are reaching for the chocolate croissant or feeling cranky and craving a cookie, try these tips above. You may surprise yourself!

Let's Practice!

I just have to have* a croissant! He's got to have a cheeseburger!

*When you speak, you can say "hafta" instead of "have to".

When you speak, you can say "gotta" instead of "got to".

Instructions: Use the words from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word bank

you've got to / got to find / has to try / have to try / They got to / They've got to / have to have

1. Sometimes I just _____ a cranberry crepe from my favorite breakfast cafe.
2. If you want to stay healthy, _____ control your cravings.
3. You _____ another way of dealing with your cravings.
4. She's _____ an outlet for her stress.
5. _____ avoid triggers for their cravings.

Let's Practice!

What do you do to take your mind off* a craving? Do you have a sweet tooth?

*to "take your mind off" something means to find a distraction.

If you have a "sweet tooth", it means you like sweet foods.

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Underline the incorrect word. Rewrite the sentence correctly. Use capital letters where necessary. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Try to change what you eat in general. The first few days are the hard to deal with, but it gets easier.
2. Since stress is one of the bigger triggers for cravings, find another way to relax.
3. I have the biggest swet tooth in my family. I'm always craving candy!
4. I spent the longer time learning to meditate as a way to deal with my stress and cravings.

Extension Activity

Let's discuss our cravings.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write down 3 things you have a craving for.
- Write down 3 ways you deal with the cravings.
- Discuss your points with your partner. Did you learn any other ways to deal with triggers?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write down my cravings and how I deal with them.

☐ ☐

My partner and I exchange information on how to deal with cravings.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- craving (noun): a sudden and strong feeling for something
 e.g.
Tom: Do you have cravings?
Joe: Yes, for chocolate!
- cranberry (noun): a small, dark red fruit with a bitter taste
 e.g. I have a craving for cranberry muffins.
- crepe (noun): a round, flat, thin pancake
 e.g. I love crepes for breakfast.
- croissant (noun): a crescent-shaped pastry; a popular French breakfast food e.g. I love chocolate croissants!
- cranky (adjective): easily upset; in a bad mood
 e.g. I get cranky when I have a craving.
- trigger (noun): something that causes something else to happen
 e.g. Stress is a trigger for cravings.
- distraction (noun): something that takes your attention away from something else
 e.g. Find a distraction to avoid giving in to cravings.
- to meditate (verb): to mentally relax by thinking about one thing
 e.g. A good distraction is to meditate.
- outlet (noun): a release
 e.g. Exercise is a good outlet for stress.

Learning Points

Expressing What Is Necessary

You can use the phrases have to or have got to to express what is necessary.

When you pronounce these phrases in conversation, you can link and reduce the sounds.

For example: Have to sounds like hafta.

I hafta exercise.

She hasta eat chocolate.

Have got to sounds like have gotta.

He's gotta eat crunchy potato chips.

I've gotta do yoga.

Practice reading these examples aloud.

Linking and Deletion with Superlatives

You use a superlative adjective to express the highest degree of a quality. You use a superlative adjective to talk about one thing or person in a group of things. You always use the with the superlative.

In natural conversation, it is common to link and delete some sounds in the superlative adjective if there is a similar sound in the next word.

For example:

The biggest sweet tooth.

You delete the t sound and link the s sound.

The bigges_sweet tooth.

Sometimes this makes it hard to listen to native speakers talk.

If you know the rule, you can listen better.

Practice reading these words aloud:

The smallest sweater = The smalles_sweater

The loudest truck = The loudes_truck

